Ex. 4 Can I add some comments to your debate about the value of television? Your readers may find that some of my views reflect exactly of their own experience in this matter. First of all, I heartily agree with your reader MrsGoldwood who she wrote that she has decided to abandon her television set in protest at the mind-boggling boredom of medical dramas, soaps and fly-on-the-wall documentaries. Six months ago I decided that enough was that enough, and took my set to the rubbish tip where it belongs. I can assure to MrsGoldwood that she will not miss with hers. Since getting rid of mine, I have discovered that there are far more than interesting serials on the radio. I think that she will also find herself is reading more, and at least with books you can choose what a kind of story you want to follow, instead of being at the mercy of the programmefor planners. I am sure that other readers can confirm that life after The Box is richer and more rewarding.
